Decided to stay on Facebook, for a while, just doing a bit of suffering there we have to get the word out and create the pathways for the future even if it is not always as fast and smooth as we wish it to be.

Things are moving on faster, more new people starting up, finding their way, experiencing, getting results.

Maybe a moment to post some of it as on FB it will not stay too long online due to the construct of FB itself.

 (I am) a Song on a Spear, an Enchantments of Wind.*

Sjoestedt's explanation makes clear that she could not possibly imagine deeply spiritual thought, or complex multivalent thought, among so called 'primitive peoples' – a bias which has repeatedly been proven incorrect the world over.

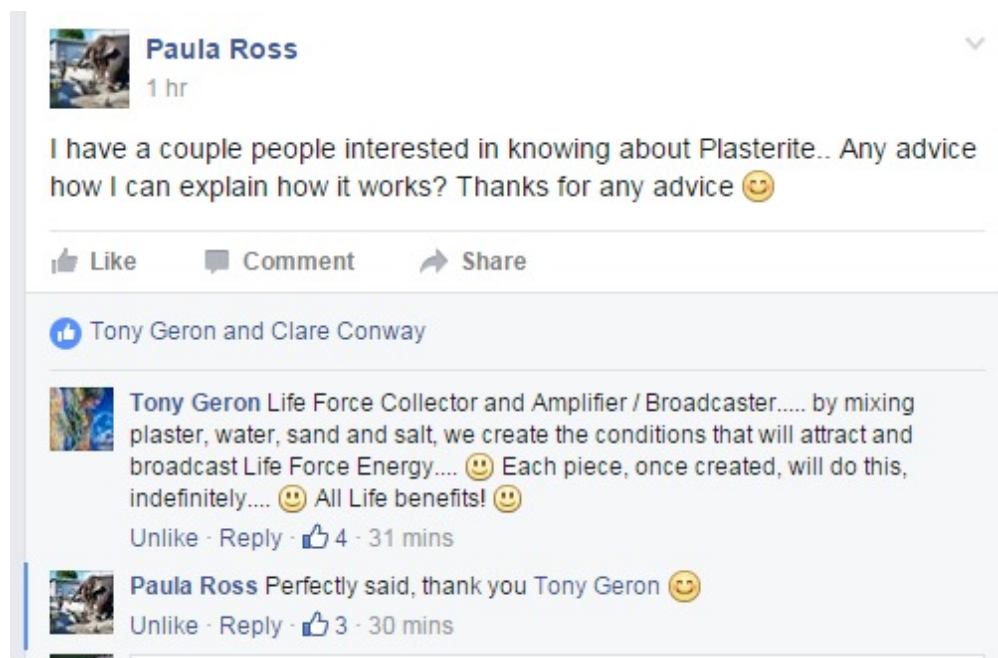

Personally, I don't see this poem as just the swaggering of a simple and arrogant magician-priest, and I'm not alone in that opinion. Well versed in at least one other Indo-European religion, Alwyn and Brinley Rees, in Celtic Heritage offer a far deeper explanation, and one that seems to speak directly to Sjoestedt while at the same time remembers that we are reading medieval text, not unadulterated ancient myth: "The Celtic substratum of our story is particularly evident in the obscure poem which Amaigen utters as he first sets his right foot upon Ireland, a poem which gives the coming of the Sons of Míl a significance beyond that of a mere historical invasion." p.98 "Potentially, the whole creation is bound up in Amaigen, and Indian parallels preclude the dismissal of his speech as simply an expression of 'the pride of the sorcerer'. Thus Sri Krishna in the Bhagavad-Gita declares himself to be the divine seed without which nothing animate or inanimate exists. He is the Atman, he is Vishnu, Shiva, Brahman, and all the gods, the beginning, the life-span, and the end: 'I am the radiant sun among the light-givers... among the stars of night, I am the moon ... I am Meru among mountain peaks ... I am the ocean among waters ... Of water-beings I am Varuna: Aryaman among the Fathers: I am Death ... I am the Wind...' He is pre-eminent among hymns, poetic metres, the letters of the alphabet, the months and the seasons: 'I am the dice-play of the cunning, I am the strength of the strong ...I am the silence of things secret: I am the knowledge of the knower ... What I have described to you are only a few of my countless forms.' Vishnu, dormant during the interval of non-manifestation between the dissolution and recreation of the universe delivers himself of a similar series of 'I am' utterances. ...

Similarly Amairgen on the ocean of non-existence embodies the primeval unity of all things. As such he has the power to bring a new world into being, and his poems are in the nature of creation incantations.” (p.99-100)

In addition to connecting the Song and its utterance to, not only the whole of existence, but the act of creation, as a corollary to that, Rees and Rees connect it to transmigration of the soul: “Amairgen...is everything, and it is a fair inference that among the Celts, as in India and other lands, there existed alongside the belief in individual reincarnation a doctrine that there is essentially only One Transmigrant. As Ovid expressed it: ‘The spirit wanders, comes now here, now there, and occupies whatever frame it pleases. From beasts it passes into human bodies, and from our bodies into beasts, but never perishes.’” (p.230)

The Rees brothers draw this conclusion, not from the Song of Amairgen alone, but from a look at the tradition as whole, through the material we have left. The book, Celtic Heritage, practically culminates with the notion that Celtic religion depicts, “in the concepts of the boundary, the centre, intercalary time, ‘to-day’, betwixts-and-between...multiple names, multiple skills, puns and, we may add, metaphors, an ambiguity, or a multiplication or concentration of meaning which makes them fitting symbols of the unmanifest, which is itself the world of chaos and at the same time the ground of all being.” (p.348-9)

I want to have a plasterite / orgonite making session! This stuff is meant to be pretty amazing and clears negative energy and transmutes it to positive, helps with all types of negative energy including electromagnetic and is meant to work wonders in the sky too. (for chemtrails) There are some amazing photos around of the sky after plasterite has been placed in the area. Plaster of Paris is powdered gypsum, and gypsum + quartz + silicate = Selenite

Hey lovely people, how's it going? I've been spreading the word about plasterite. My goodness it's amazing as indeed you already know. I had a great brainwave very early this morning. You can buy very affordable attractive hollowed out ceramic indoor and outdoor ornaments of all shapes and sizes at "bargain stores" You can simply pour the plaster mix inside and you've a fully functional unit that's more durable and waterproof. I filled a big buddha head earlier on today. Very powerful and for outdoor use. Chopper visit within ten minutes ☺ 😊

Suzanne Mahon Today went to Duncannon and got sand and shells and seaweed. So think I will just start small with hearts etc as I still haven't got a cone. My water is infused with crystals, been in the sun and moon bathed for 2 days. Looking forward to the weekend to start creating the love. ❤️

Jenny Mortell That's great Suzanne, good luck, it will work out perfectly, I suggest a ratio of 1 litre water to about 800 mls plaster (by volume) as it will harden fairly quickly. Well if it's casting plaster it will harden REALLY quickly so once it's all mixed, pour really fast.

I have red roses that have dried is it worth putting some in, also I have some lovely amber and frankincense. How best to use them please? I have been 'testing' my creations by placing them over water and freezing them. Each mix is creating a slightly greater vortex effect than the next. Are there any other ways of 'testing' as I would like proof positive for the disbelievers. x

Suzanne Mahon Hi all, just poured my first batch at the weekend. Boy does that plaster set fast. Made my mix maybe using too much plaster, just under 2 litres plaster, 2 litres water infused with crystals and made up with some prill water. You'll have to google prills. I used a handful plus a bit of beach sand and mixed 2 drops of frankincense and rose oils in small drop of milk to act as emulsifier. Is it the sand that acts as the catalyst for setting the plaster? Will try to post pictures later. I got about 12 hearts, not all great and some roses a la Lidle and a yoghurt container that nearly set as I was pouring. All topped of with much love and good intentions. What fun and lovely warmth from all my babies as they were coming into being. I am letting them dry out before transferring to their new homes. Definitely good energy at home now.

Regarding membership, again.

If you just want to ask a question, like Sherry, you dont have to become a member.

Just send an email to orgoniteplus@inbox.com that s it.

Only become a member if you are ready or wanting to post or share some sort of relevant information. This is one of the few , very few, honest information resources left and I am the pit bull that keeps on guard not crap comes in here.

You first have to get past me and that you cannot do if you have wrong intentions.

For your daily dose of shite go to Facebook please , you can cuddle with the sheep there and be political correct.

Lots of hoopla and BS there, tons of it , amazing amounts of nonsense. Endless parade of fantasy and rubbish.

For facts and kicking the ass of this fxxxking control grid you come here.

That s the deal.

You come in the real world, with real healing and the rest of it or you listen to David Icke, Jones and all the other sell out whores.

Have your pick, plenty out there to cater to all your needs.

Truth you wont get but lots of happy shit, if you pay up that is , of course.

If it was not for lady J I would again have deleted all my stuff there as it is becoming hopeless on the " awakened" front, have a good laugh ...it is needed sometimes...

It is becoming utterly ridiculous out there, no one doing anything, just doing their happy hour on FB pathetic and hypocrite voila , I said it, again.

We need , those of us who have some level of brain left, real folk , real people, who make a real stand.

A few in Ireland doing it, we all know who they are.

Personally I am fed up with those facebook zombies those political correct hoopla, this oh please dont rock the boat baby, please go along with our shite, have fun bro, all this new age crap make me puke, if I hear the word " spiritual consciousness " one more time it s gonna rock.

Sure there is real spirituality , I just dont see it too often , that s all you see...

It is not there usually, like a bunch of parrots repeating the crap been given to them by the elite all posting the same facebook posts over and over again nothing real there.

God that s so fxxxcking boring there unbelievable.

Nobody dares to open their mouths anymore , afraid of being outcast for being different, having an own opinion.

Calling a dog a dog is no longer allowed

It s a cat now , you see

They tell you it is a cat and you better jump when they tell you to jump or else...

Than you have those who do nothing else than whining about the cabal that runs the planet, without doing something about it.

Staying at that " conspiracy" level, we know all that , it s ancient. We know what s going on. Why endlessly debate that ?

What s the point, you wont make too many fans with that info. One big crazy club with inner clubs has always run the planet one way or another.

I am more interested in solutions , in progress, in getting things done, than in endless whining.

The Energy work interviews

http://outofthebagradio.weebly.com/podc ... 13-01-2016

This week's OUT OF THE BAG was another PACKED SHOW!

My first guest, Jenny Mortell, an activist I met in Dublin not too long ago was just wonderful! APOLOGIES for the poor sound quality! There was a problem with Jenny's microphone and I hope she will return with some more great information on a variety of subjects I know we would enjoy! Or even to go over this great subject again!

She is an activist and has a NEW concept of using organite type "units" (helping with wifi and chemtrails, etc.); but without as much expense and difficulty. We learnt about PLASTERITE and very informative it was! If you are on FACEBOOK join Jenny and many others to share more information here is the page:

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/orgoneBB/>

THANK YOU Jenny, I know you aren't used to radio interviews and you were a NATURAL!

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/orgoneBB/>

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/orgonite.plaster/>

For the final hour of the show I invited Tony Geron to join me and enlighten us further about PLASTERITE and it's properties! A fascinating interview!

Tony is an Energy Healer trained in traditional Reiki as a Master / Teacher, and also under the Egyptian Mystery School as a Master / Teacher in Seichim / Sekhem / SKHM (pronounced say-keem), an ordained Priest in the Order of Melchizedek, and a Shaman. Tony has had a lifelong special connection to Nature and Spirits, born with several gifts, he has communed with all forms of life and treats all with reverence. Tony is a father of six children and lives with his beloved partner Sherry, with three kids still at home. Having a keen interest in so many things, Tony has been involved in many free energy related groups online and continues to moderate several groups on Yahoo that share knowledge regarding Energy, Vibration and Frequency. Some years ago, Tony discovered Orgonite and both met and worked with numerous people around the world on projects, eventually both meeting and studying under Shaman Jacques (Josh) Juarez, who is credited with the creation of what some call, Plasterite. Some of his adventures can be found shared on his blog, <https://energyhealingbytony.wordpress.com/>.

Thank you Tony..... I hope you return to us very soon!

New thoughts

by josh on Sat Sep 04, 2010 10:14 am

Here are new thoughts concerning the way we think and built our devices of beauty/joy/laughter/selflessness/peace...etc:

It is our feelings to desire the undoing of many nefarious things around us, and as we are making this device or this one we are limiting our selves to an area of affect; two miles, four miles, twenty miles... A good way to stretch our thinking is to try to build something that will affect all the way around the world, when we do that, and challenge our intellect to come up with a way, we are changing gear, this make us look at things that we never thought of before.

It is as if we practice throwing a stone at twenty feet; we will never know our true capacity until we practice to throw that stone two hundred feet, we likely never will throw that rock two hundred feet, but we sure will, in the process, go much further then twenty.

Make sense?

do you mean due to the size of the orgonite being made, its benefits are 'limited' (or we believe they are) to a 'short' distance .... ?

josh wrote: A good way to stretch our thinking is to try to build something that will affect all the way around the world ...

in size or intent?

I like to imagine the orgonite pieces connecting with other orgonite around the globe, which kinda makes a mandala grid of orgonite energy ...

is that what you mean? or are you putting out a suggestion to make humungous (very huge) pieces?

Ok Josh ...OUT WITH IT.....me think you hatching BIG plan..... How big?

You've played the cards a winner so far..broadcasting, plaster and my favourite, the life pillow. ....And now ?.....ready to play....just love experimenting !

Or are you talking about a specific intent.

Re: New thoughts

OK, yes there is more, I really really desire for all of us to use our gray much in a audacious/expensive/never done before ways.

I always challenge my self to see "whats next" how can I make this work stronger, further....

So let us look at everything we all have done so far:

We have created A new kind of Orgonite; (Plasterite),

It broadcast thousands of miles, the large cone from Stephen, myself, Tony, Anna, Steve and the rest of the crew are broadcasting all the way pass the moon

Also with these we are pegging the Bovis scale, and it vibrates in all dimensions

We as well know that we can make the Plasterite very simply, very powerful without the use of crystals, sand works well

We can do this most cheaply: a fraction of the cost of resin, and the kids really, really do love it (yesterday, a 2 year old, in the dark went on some shelves at a friend' s house and got out of the room the arms filled with little plasterites hearts, lots of them LOL)

Then we have wrapped those cones with extension cords and broadcasted the Plasterite energy all over the grid

Some of us even wrapped the Pillows with it, polarizing all the grid to spin in the right direction

Here is another thing we have found, as Catherine paint the Plasterite, many colors or single colors, the energies appears to go way way up, I am nor sure why but I think it is the resonance of the colors in the inner structure of the plaster

And yet it seems that the nefarious energies are still there and very active

So more Plasterite and more painting and more.....

Josh,

That feels so right, thank you for pursuing and posting and teaching so many !

It would be great to succeed in pulling the rug out from under all this apocalyptic cr@p, and walk harmoniously into a new era of harmony and harmlessness..

Yes would love to pull that rug myself.

Amount the things to sparkle some interest in new things is radionics, there are much possibilities there, see if you can find a practitioner; he or she will give you much valid infozzz

Re: New thoughts

G,day all...some time ago, I discovered I could help person in hospital on other side of Australia, using techniques of

Sukyo Mahikari,. Projecting hi no ki energy...friend made remarkable recovery , surprising doctors and family.

Later when involved in Bio-dynamic agriculture, I read about a radionics device for broadcasting the bio-dynamic preparations to the soil.....it was developed by Hugh Loyal , who escaped to Australia...I nearly made one with my Phd mate but it didn't eventuate . The radioncs device is called a Cosmic Pipe.

I contacted Josh to quiz him on a plasterite radionics device..He suggested flat shapes that could be stacked up to 9 high.

With appropriate script/thought, between each layer, to be broadcasted radionically.

Josh, if you could expand idea, please ?

So I found some pot plant trays, 12 inches round by almost 2 inches high. Made 9 over two days...Used sand , salt, a big handfull of shells in each, some nag champa and of course Pillowed water. Each piece had 3 small quartz points in equilateral triangle mid distance in circle. 1.5 x 20 kilo bags. Had drying outside for 3 days...looks like I,m going into paver business Ha

Rain storm forced inside so I stacked...Whoosh...energy big time..looked like the pieces needed to have something in between them...apart from script which still isn't happening...My mate came round and sat there glowing...ha ha ..he reckoned it may work better with airspace between each layer , which instantly struck a chord...so will have to find some small blocks.

As is..just drying pieces stacked , I can feel whole side of my body glowing, about 1 to 2 m away.

Will continue to play...Josh..why 9 ? can use more ? Thought about topping with cone.....Yo monsoon gecko

After 9 you get into the diminishing return: no more with more ,

But here is what you can do; (at least I have done that with the writing) take the unit of nine pieces and counted as one, then you make 8 more units.....paving hey!!!

This will give you 81 pieces, now you will really think you are in the paving business , actually you will be in the flying business, it may be hard to keep your self on the ground with these

Simplicity; high tech magic

You can try also with 9 leaves of any tree, and then layer 9 more..etc..ask the tree first

We are going somewhere

Let us not forget, the higher your ethics, the more powerful your pieces

Re: New thoughts

Yeah. it's do able, with effort and time...factory mode, but I reckon I'd hit the ceiling by the 6th lot ,, ha ha

Might do a couple more lots to experiment....eventually.

Also, I,m assuming that despite the energy output, plaster is still diamagnetic....like limestone, Anyone know?

So I'm wondering how a paramagnetic disk alternating would help and what to make it from...I mean I have the highly paramagnetic rock chips available....maybe thin disk set in resin, concrete , plaster? All the ancient cultures from standing stone, pyramids , temples , towers and cathedrals etc use this energy generated by use of paramagnetic and diamagnetic stone.... but for specifics and how to I have no clue.

Just speculating...anyone got any thoughts ?

You can always make a thin slurry with your paramagnetic earth and a bit of plaster to keep it together, 1/2" thick disk to go in between the larger Plasterite.

Now let us look at "the past", I may be entirely wrong on this, then again...

All of those "great" culture may have stayed around for a long time, but they were still under the slave/master relationship and they eventually failed; the use of the higher technology was for privilege few, in truth it might have help with the crops, but it was mostly for the use of the Illuminati of the day.

So what they did at the time did not not bring a lasting peace or an enlighten behavior, therefore our medicine must be different, we may use some of their technologies, but our is and will be different because our intent is different

So what is it that we are doing with all of this new ideas; we are attempting to change to frequency so that ALL of humanity finds it self in a new paradigm of healthy ethic, absolute honesty, in service to others, rather than total service to self as it has been for countless eons.

This is the why of the big and energetic devices; the further the field affect the more people are hopefully coming under the new and improved way of being. ....I may be dreaming standing up.....somebody me please so I wake up.

Re: New thoughts

by monsoon gecko on Fri Oct 08, 2010 9:26 am

Well I went ahead and made 10 thin 1/2 inch plates loaded with paramagnetic rock chips...one broke in half...After drying, I stacked them to see.

They seemed quite energetic by themselves, but when placed alternating, inbetween the 2 inch plates, the whole unit was noticablely stronger.

So all up, 9 x 2inch x 12inches across and then alternating 9 x 1/2inch thick plates loaded with paramagnetic rock

Have not yet sourced spacers to trial an air gap between layers but eventually will test that.

Also the script is makeshift and needs to improve

Noticed after coming home from school and sitting to relax, how strongly it radiates only a couple metres away.

This has happened every time I go out.....seems stronger than the giant cones as I have not acclimatised to the energy as I have done with the other devices...still noticablely feel it each time I walk into room...getting into 2nd week of trial.

Left a flagon of water on it overnight . It was really charged and tasted crisp and sweet.....similar to pillowed water.

Layered multiple pieces really multiply energy .

Funny, I noticed one group of students at school pooling their freshly made pieces and stacking together on their desk. Didn't ring a bell at the time but interesting on afterthought. Others just carry them around like pets.....It's all entertaining...ha ha !

Hi Monsoon Gecko ,

Please hear me out and try this if you want to.

Confession- I am extremely energy-sensitive and visionary, etc, etc, etc.

This is my vision:

8 layers of discs, alternating para and diamagnetic.

Above the 8 layers an airspace.

1 more disc above the airspace, with a point on one flat face, positioned to point straight upward.

Position shells in the airspace with the small ends facing outward in multiple directions (May not need the shells to work, but they will act as a venturi if present, may get you more range).

It is a tower of Light.

That's it. I will build this some day, and will post here when I do.

Namaste,

Linda

Yo. ...Josh. Starting from bottom up,,Plasterite 2 inch plate with paramagnetic plate directly on top, then plastic sleeve with script.....still need to work on that...then next layer, 2 inch plate , the Pm plate then sleeve , continuing up to the top. Spacers under the top plate is 3 mini Tb's with shells lined up, then top plate positioned with final cone positioned in the middle.

I used the plastic sleeves because the plaster was not completely dry, so will probabaly dump them some time. Plastic doesn,t feel right. I havenot a clue as to how well it works or in fact what I'm doing as a radionics device. But can tell you it has much stronger energy field than a large cone broadcaster...I got used to them pretty quickly...couple days. This layered device continually pumps.

I haven't even try airspace between all layers yet and as for shells in upper space, can't really tell if it improves or not.,just continually surrounded by energy all the time....hard to pick the details....maybe stronger.. not sure....thanks Linda

..after all ,each plasterite 2inch plate has a big handfull of shells and the 3 quartz points too. Like running blind full speed, but not hitting anything....exhilarating !

I have to laugh seeing Dennis on WM with his new kirlian toy stating plasterite has no life force....that's certainly not my experience.....only trouble is he,s sucked all those people in.

Welcome any input, advice or ideas..... Thanks,
Stephen

Hey Stephen, this is a good report, do you feel that the cone up top is focusing the energy, or if there is still a wide field?

Suffice to say I am gonna be at it in few days, for now I have to finish a bunch for schools,

Well it is to bad about Dennis, as I look at other Orgonite forums, I can see that anyone who want sell Orgonite can do it, but not on WM, it look to me more like a store front for his products, no mater it is stil a big information center for people curious about the Orgonite

We have ample proof of the working of the Plasterite, he can say what he like about the Earth being flat; we know better

Also beware of what you say, it may get yourself banned from WM

Oh also; did you cast your Paramagnetic Earth in resin? , the one that I have is in rather large flat chunks, I have made many coasters with it, about 1 inch thick in resin, so for the layer devise I will use the same idea, but I think your PM is much stronger than the one I have,.....I am certain it will still work.

From what we can see and feel the Plasterite becomes even more active when it is painted, the bright colors are activating something

Catherine has just finished (last night at 2 AM) painting a large traffic cone titled "PEACE", will take pictures and post soon.

Have you received your parcel yet or is it detained by the post office, I send it 2 weeks ago, it look like the Gestapo is here full on Wow Stephen!

I am so impressed! Beautiful, strong work...

The point at the top is to send a vertical beam up (would be cool if there was a shell mounted into the top of the point with its small end pointing straight up), that structure pumps energy, and the shells in the top space act as venturis to all sides, so you have yourself a screaming eagle there .

If you want to remove that vertical beam function, just take the piece off the top layer and leave it flat. Leaving the point in place (if you decide to do that), it would be interesting to see if the structure will function well as a cloudbuster.

Woohoo!

Hey maybe we can get the other Steve to calibrate it? Steve, would you please?

Oh thank you Monsoon, for putting that together

Many Blessings,

Linda

Thanks Linda.. will hunt up larger spiral shell to try...then you mentioned cloudbuster. I thought...mmmm ..a hexagon of shells. standing vertically....think I might have to make a couple more thin plates with shells embedded vertically and try each.

Josh, parcel arrived today and yes, was delayed and opened by customs, but not a problem, unlike last time eh ?

Thankyou so much... a beautiful Life Pillow...putting to good use aready....wonder if I can grow hair on top of my head ? ha ha Paramagnetic Rock in orgonite ? Only put a few chips in pieces recently , when I remember. Just like a little bit of tourmaline, kyanite or lapis which are my favourite additives. Can't pick any diff. So you think load it into a thin plate or use in matrix of Tb etc, or both. It certainly made the plants root systems grow bigger and healthier in school seedling trials in earlier times, So , good addition to Tb's ETC ? and how much ?

Yo,,, here's ongoing trials on plasterite radionics device. I've updated the photobucket albums.

http://s814.photobucket.com/albums/zz63 ... s%20Trial/

Added two more plates with vertical spiral shells.. interestingly, the shells spin anti-clockwise, opening .....as in turning on tap or taking out screw....mmmm ?

One plate has single shell...need bigger shells ! It didn;t have a very long trial,,,have stuck with the hexagon plate,,,you can fit a glass flagon of water to charge in it and WOW, what a hit !

Sorry Josh, more charged than with a pillow, and you know how I love my pillow ! ! ha ha.

The water leaves a charged tingle on the palate for a little while.....hold on, I'll have another swig.. ....mmm, delish,,

Change in energy factor ? Well...I think so...hard to tell because it's constantly turned on ! ha ha
No escaping this baby..... my only thinking.....Well, it is a radionics device ! ! !

Thank you for Starting These Forums, Josh

by Lightning on Mon Jul 26, 2010 1:39 pm

Hi Josh and All,

I would like to say 'hi' to everybody here on these great forums and thank you for being here, and for posting so that I and others can learn. I thought I should introduce myself and not just lurk forever.

I've never made Orgonite nor Plasterite yet, but am accumulating the materials for both, and it won't be long now . Orgonitewise, I've got about a quart of Clear-Lite although I have now realized that epoxy is what I want to work with. I only have about 8oz of clear epoxy, so I'll be starting small with the Orgonite. Plasteritewise, I have just acquired 25 lbs of Plaster of Paris from Home Depot for about $15.98 USD. Just couldn't bring myself to spend $7. for a measly 4 lbs .

I'm looking so forward to this, and am working out the concept of my first pieces.I work pretty slow, though, until I get going so it might be a little while before I have any pics to post...

Right now, I'm leaning more toward personal jewelry and gifting my garden beds (veggies), with a smaller powered cone-shaped unit (About 1 qt, I think) for the home place grid initially. If that goes well, I'll probably wind up with Monoliths in the back yard, and then branch out from there .

Speaking of Monoliths, I am thinking of the Stonehenge-type structures, etc around the world. I have a strong sense that those structures fit into an energy field which is being fortified by the structures being described here. Wouldn't it be a kick if activating the Earth's ancient positive energy structures provided the flip for Mankind's Consciousness Switch?

I also have/am receiving the concept of a "mated pair" set of Orgonite and Plasterite. I think that would be a very good thing. In my perception these are tools to bring together the different levels of an old existing grid of very positive energy, Maybe the Grid is the Grail.

Namaste,

Linda, welcome to Orgonite plus, already you are bringing some very bright concepts that are certainly worth to be given deep thoughts.

"activating the Earth's ancient positive energy structures" now that is something to ponder deeply upon, as if the ancients knew of future problems, and would have provided a way for healing.....I love this

Thank you

Hi Linda

I agree with your thought of the ancient energy lines waking up ... I feel the same ...

I've also seen a time when crystal would be our source of energy ... didn't see it as being via orgonite until I came across orgonite!

I haven't started making any yet, but am gathering materials and bugging Stephen with some questions ..

I think I've become addicted ...

have a beautiful day, everyone!

Addicted...you bet...you wont believe the "rush" when you start making and gifting
....wow...empowerment...hooweeeeeee.
Blessings allround..... it just gets better and better.

Thankyou for starting this forum , Josh,.....gratitude. Yo

Time and again , I've read that 6 decent Tb's , buried in a hexagon pattern , about a foot apart will open even the most stubborn vortex.

A lady at school reported of constant lightning strikes near and on her house in our wet season. (I taught her boys and daughter.) It's full on up here in the Darwin wet. ! some even went through window, despite a household Hhg and Tb in the boys' room. I gave her 6 larger Tb's and a cardboard template....Done...no more lightning strikes...She's amazed !

Ancient structures and vortexes.....could it be that simple ?

Thank you Stephen: with the hexagon re establishing balance, have you tried it on a very large map?, not really in vivo but it should work

Bluegum from OrgonizeAustralia.webs.com recently completed a huge mapped hexagon with large devices. Titled Flower of Brisbane completed....worth a look...inspiring.. He sent me a copy of the Treasure Map...IT IS A TREASURE !
Especially for the population of Brisbane !

CBs and Rain

by Steve on Mon Jul 26, 2010 1:52 am

I'm wondering if you guys have tried putting water in your CB pipes to draw more rain. I just tried it two days ago and it seems our forecast for getting rain here in Vegas has doubled from 20% to 40% on Tue Wed and Thur this week. It's been dry here for looong time. It could be a total coincidence but I'm hoping some of you may have had a similar experience.

This is interesting, could the water act as resonance calling for more of it self?

Yes that could be part of it Josh. I also programmed the water and the CB to bring in the rain ala radionics machine? Tony had touched on this idea in some other ways with the Plasterite. It was also spoken of in another forum within the past couple of days so thought it might be worth mentioning.

Re: CBs and Rain

G'day all..I'm committed to make two CB's before next wet.. Have only made two full size CB's, one an induction model'

Basically followed WM tutorial but added a few more quartz. The induction one , just wrapped base pipes with few tight wraps of silver packing tape... not sure on its effectiveness or range.

I know that the standard CB, based in town , stopped two cyclones . The strange thing was that both times the cyclone downgraded to low pressure system and both times centered and spun over Darwin for several days. , stationary, getting bigger and dumping heaps of rain., before rain dance the continent....several times...major flooding inland river systems.

This was profound. This year ..10 years of artificial drought broken .....ever since Raindance continues, even in capitals .

I'm so glad I made that first one...was a challenge ,,the top and bottom spacers I found a pain in the a.....rest, pouring etc fun !

So . Any tips on construction. additives , amounts ..techniques. updates ? ? Pros cons ?

On a mission but not that experienced in these devices.

Grateful in advance....Yo

Re: CBs and Rain

by josh on Wed Jul 28, 2010 9:13 am

Stephen I have made probably 35 CBs and found many short cuts, first : to find the exact size crystals to fit in the bottom of the pipes is always a pain, I wound up with much larger than practical, sometime they are twice as big as necessary, so I put the point of the crystal in the pipe and simply tape the tail end to the pipe, it does not matter how big it is, it still work, for the spacer, when I was making so many for Dennie, I was making the bottom spacer with thick cardboard, it work very nicely the top one I made with 1/2" plywood, At this time I think Dennie sell a very high quality spacer he has them made by someone, but your pipe may not be the same size as here. In the middle of the CB (Cloud Booster )I always put a large sea shell with the point up, since it look like the energy of the shell comes out the small end, also you do not need to have the bottom pipe as long, 10" is enough

Hope this help a little

Oh let us not forget, some of the first CBs were made not with pipe but with Re bars (reinforcement steel bars) AND WORKED VERY NICELY, so in a pinch where you have no copper pipe you can use re bars, aluminum pipe or bars, plumbers pipe.

Re: CBs and Rain

by Spirit Walker on Fri Jul 30, 2010 11:28 am

Yes!!!! I have found that putting water in my CB pipes DID manifest rain, and usually pretty quick, like either the same day or the very next! Since I just can't for the life of me do ANYTHING the "normal" way, I've taken to being creative in that regard as well.... So, the water going in the pipes is usually structured and charged water that has been imprinted, ala Dr. Emoto, with LOVE on the glass container I would "treat" it in prior to filling up the pipes. I have read and know of people that put crystals in the bottom of the pipes, some will wrap the crystals in a coil as well.

I believe it all "works" to a greater degree or less. I have also added drops of Rescue Remedy to that water in the pipes.... OK, so I have also tossed in other essential oils too!

I think the current setup has 7 foot copper pipes in mine. I am going to cut those pipes down to a "resonant" length, something I can share more of if anyone is interested in doing so, it makes a big difference in what the metal in the pipe does regarding "energy" and waveforms... Kind of like fine tuning the antenna....

G'day mate...you bloody beauty..ha ha

I know it's a long way from you guys but some interesting stuff here and there.

Each time I've promoted this site on WM, especially to a new Aussie gifter,.....reference has been deleted....disappointing!

Not that many post here, guess they're shy...still ,worth a look,

Hello MG, I like this Organize Australia forum, It is good that you are speaking about the plaster, It need to be widely accepted and put to good use, it definitely has a front row place in the Orgonite world. Have you tried broadcasting with it?

Hi MG, I almost made a comment on it the other day but the registration required an authentication email which requires an authentic email and of course, like the silly ninny that I am, was scared away. I really don't care if you have my email but I wasn't sure about who else sees those emails. I don't even know why I worry. Very nice site! I shall have to visit more often. The more I learn the more pissed I get! Deleted your link, indeed, what utter rubbish!

"Plaster Broadcaster". Oh boy, there once was or maybe still is an infamous gaggle of groupies on the American rock and roll scene that call themselves something very similar for a reason I am embarrassed to say in mixed company.

Life Pillow from Ireland

Yo J, WTF ??? whaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa so you did it you truly did it

thought you would sure you would, but still, did not think you d be so determined but you are you are so amazing and I thought you were joking, can t believe it, will keep it under my pillow alright you champion

a real warrior princess you are, besides from the selenite Queen

Oh yes so lady J spiced me up with a real Irish life pillow, polarizer, a healing device, and gorgeous she is, smooth with a lot of curves, everything you could possibly want...the life pillow that is ...

it is superb

and is that real leather, feels like it, very smooth, mine feels like elephant skin, thick leather, very robust for sure, but, this is a really classy piece real artwork too, very creative , never seen something like it.

humbly bow down with a huge grin

you are something Jenn
you got the right stuff

big smile

Gratitude

Wow a real life pillow , ah cant believe it , the healers spirit continues

we would not have all these things without Josh and some others

Highly appreciated

MG gave me a medium LP , resin flavor in the past, top toy , really top

now I bought a big one, actually I bought the best life pillow on the planet but please keep it quiet, dont post it on FB or something , you might start a riot

we must see we get something going as they are for the benefit of all as MG aka Stephen Geddes covers the resin area we might hop in to the natural products. We get that going this year

one way or another

I can use the big life pillow now you see and shipment from Australia will cost you an arm and two legs, at least...

it s terrible, postage is a killer

maybe I ll send something fancy over, something no one has seen yet.

have to think about that what is that smell, lavender ?

to cover up the seaweed haha

Megacool and doubleplus good

oh I put my own next to it , it is enormous

you could tame a rhino with mine you bet easily

really cool

I got a bit of a fright at first when I heard there were going to be 7 participants, worrying would we have enough space in a kitchen. But it all worked out perfectly, all co-operated, all had fun. So interesting seeing the different attitudes, Katarina and Jurie wanted as much and as big as possible for their 'cottage'. It's in The Curragh in Kildare, and is just beside an Army Base (not that much military stuff happens there I'd say). So they did some big pours. Richard and Mano only wanted small items because of lack of space in their apartment. I was told to watch out for a very skeptical Mano, who was going to ask me difficult questions, but he surprised everyone by being a total sweetie and joining in enthusiastically. Edina was rather mystical, she had lots of essential oil, lovely smelling which she generously shared. And she could not be stopped from going out, collecting and adding in twigs and little flowers. Heather made LOTS of little shapes which she will be giving to her colleagues on a new Start your own Business course, starting on Monday. Tomasz was a very interesting guy, a mixture of the scientific and metaphysical, he is doing a Physiotherapy Course but will bring in a very holistic approach. It was brilliant at the end where they all co-operated in making one last large cone which turned out beautifully.

And there's a plan in mind to take a stall at an forthcoming Festival in June called Body and Soul. Katarina thinks it would be a great project, to tell people about Plasterite, have little demonstrations and sell things. We'd be talking to the right audience. Of course I said I'd be all for it. Feeling excited

Some photos of what I played with last night, small pendants! They are about twice as thick as what I want, but fun first start....

Plaster, sand, salt, neem powder, purple food coloring added at the very end of curing and stirred.... smile emoticon And some sparkle stuff... LOL

Hidden Hands

by Aine Mac Aodha

*Most hands protect with a warm clasp others cheer us on a pat on the head shows affection a wave when a friend passes by.
Nurturing and feeding our young creatively in beauty, nature.
Some are used in violent ways that harm and maim without remorse.
hidden hands that control from higher places; dealers in lifes' card game.*

*Many religions, media in various forms schools of this and that controlled by these hidden hands dealing to the blind with little or no inner vision, discernment or care silencing almost immediately the tongues of the few awake to such shuffling.
They dared to question.*

*Who controls from above, pulls the strings makes the noises in the right places?
Hidden hands like muted weapons, famine, swine flu, war, aids, scare tactics
the dumbing down of certain areas of society.*

*Chemtrails across the perfect sky blocking our very sun
Someone will always ask why
why some hands are very hidden. [/center]*

Jenn s been on the road , visiting lady G. and getting it all going on a side note, it is remarkable to see how many of those who are awake belong the what we could call the creative community, artists, musicians, poets, healers, alternative medicine people, etc. just comes to mind now I write this. Besides from being a tool of light, a healing energy device, or if you really have to use that word " orgonite" it is also pleasant and fun to make them, good atmosphere, etc, it is like doing things you like , that give good craic as they say ...

What comes to mind is there are more people doing this , it's just most don't care to share.
For all sorts of reasons.

For most this "energywork" again, for lack of a better word, is a personal road.

Then there is this privacy issue , jadija...understandably especially in this day and age

Well, not to worry , most accounts are anonymous anyway and that's a good thing.

I prefer it that way.

The only thing needed is an email address, logically, but you can make one in a minute anywhere.

To make things easier, I disabled admin approval, so anyone can just register and boom , you are in,

there is no admin approval on posts also for newcomers, it's all open.

You could post immediately, if you want to without having to wait for this or that, etc.

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Aho!

And Hello!!!! LOL

Still in experimental mode, and having the time of my life...

By my calling this "experimental", I've released myself from any "good or bad" labels regarding my Creations.... well, mostly! OK, I still have my bucket for unfortunate results, but I did use over half of that last night in a larger pouring, large plastic planter from the $1.00 Dollar Store locally. My fascination with color seems unending. I twiddle more and more with subtle changes to when or what I add, either to water or plaster.... The tumeric, neem tree powder, and now this wonderful powdered food coloring from the Indian store, all work well in parts mixed with the plaster. I've five colors of glitter, so I add one or two colors in also, to the plaster. With the water, I've tried mixing the color in with the blender, and also just adding it after pouring the water first into the mold, and stirring. What has really worked interesting is getting it at about to set moment(s), and putting some drops of the liquid food coloring, and then swirling it, and even using my bamboo skewer, poking it to the bottom, to get some of the color, spread around deeper....

The other thing we found, and I say we, because suddenly, my entire family is now a Plasterite Family! LOL

The kids take turns with me each night we pour, and they get their own special batch of hearts, or mini cones. What Sherry has now started to do, is take what I pour, and put it in the oven for a half hour or so. WOW, it REALLY brings out the color(s), that are in the mix. We have played with heating them at different temps and lengths, but very happy with how they come out! Steaming.....

Will post some pics possibly tomorrow evening of some of the latest, only on my third bag of plaster, want another three hundred bags, just in case I get really excited! LOL

Double Aho!!!

So glad to be here! I see you use turmeric powder. Could I include Moringa Leaf Powder in my mix? Moringa is a green super-food. It has anti-inflammatory properties and is a great balancer. Should I just experiment and let you know what happens?

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Welcome and thanks for sharing , regarding turmeric... some post in the past have been made about that , basically all natural ingredients that are promoting health can be used, still some are more important than others and turmeric, for example is one of those, like zeolite , are even more powerful.

The point is to use natural materials, nothing artificial will do, so make sure your materials are as natural as can be, not an easy task maybe nowadays as most stuff claiming to be " organic" etc often are not that natural after all on second look.

The forum founder , years ago, did a post on that , maybe it can be of use to you.
We are not attacking the artificial method per se , you see.

We just prefer the natural method, easier, cheaper, stronger and safer in many ways.

Especially for your purse and the energies are good.

In the below post a resin mix is used but the selenite mix we prefer works just as well if not better

New mix for Orgonite

by josh » Thu Jun 03, 2010

About 6 month ago a costumer call me and ask if I could make a pendant that would help her arthritis, I told her That I would try, so this is what I did: I knew that the Orgonite will amplify what ever is put in the mix. I knew that the energies of the Orgonite get modulated by the different stones we put in it So I prepared my mix to make her a pendant : resin, metal oxide+micron size copper, and a mix of crystal powder, Then I added one teaspoon of turmeric powder (turmeric is said to be beneficial for arthritis), the mix became a beautiful dark red color. I suspected that the Orgonite would also amplify the energy of the turmeric and broadcast it as well as the various stones. I sent the pendant to this lady, 2 or 3 weeks later her report was that her arthritis was no longer a problem, she was very glad since she is a piano teacher I cannot say for sure if the pendant was responsible for her well being, but may be??? From that we can apply the same method to various problem, use different herbs and see what effect they have on various problems and situations. j

It looks like your Moringa is a winner

Well it does make us curious on another note, folk seem to have some difficulties with posting pictures here, well, maybe you do succeed in that or you can just post them somewhere else , so they can be attached later on.

Still, I think it is very easy, if you make a post you can see the " choose file" button, just click on it, browse on your machine to the picture you want to upload, than click the " add file" button, does not seem too hard I think the picture will be uploaded and attached to your post.

wish you fun and health and a blue sky but you always get that with this wonderful technique.

for free.

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Aho Blynsay!

Yes! Others may pitch in on this, but here is my take on what could or should be added to our Creations..... just about ANYTHING, Natural.

For me, I look to add "layers" of information / vibration / frequency, to each piece of Plasterite. To me, adding any natural substance, can and will do such. The question really comes down to this..... What is my intention or desire in regards to that which I create? Some of my pieces get everything including the kitchen sink, when I am creating a piece or pieces, for personal use around the home, or to be given to someone, with the intention of helping them on all levels, physically, mentally, emotionally, even spiritually. For instance, I am working on a "batch" that will be given out, to help folks open up their 3rd Eye.... so what might I wish to put into something like that? For starters, I'm putting Borax powder, to help decalcify the pineal gland.... and some Rose Essential Oil, since it has one of the highest vibrations of any living thing. Some other goodies as well, but I hope you get the idea?

There is no right or wrong in making these Creations. Without playing and experimenting, we sit within the same sand box, with the same sand, and hope to uncover something new..... Let's play with abandon and see what we might Create, new!!!!

Welcome to our Family, please ask anything you wish!

Warm Regards,

Tony

Tony Geron

This one? Jenny, that is fantastic that you are transmuting the trails as they come out the plane!!!! Next time, for me, would you try this? "Creation (or whatever you might call your plasterite piece), will you please transmute the emissions of this plane, to LFE? Thank you!" Wait until it does it, and THEN say.... "Creation, please do this to ALL planes that you can reach, always, starting right NOW." It just popped 'in' as I read all of the above..... smile emoticon I'm going to try and do the same, so no pressure or expectations, for anyone that does try! What my attempt, in my mind, is really about, is to allow our Creations, to show they are really Alive, and Conscious. That will blow EVERYTHING away, or UP, once that can be shown, even just to you or me, and we know it in our bones..... I know it on a woo woo energy connection, but watching it do something like this, take on more than one, and work, really could change everything.....

THIS IS NEWS

The Irish truth

TTIP

Geoengineering killing our skies

Why don't Government acknowledge Geoengineering?

The go ahead of the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership

That will see big business to be given power to sue the Irish government for loss of earnings if the Irish people don't accept the likes of GMO foods from big corporations. The internet could see a 3 strike system that could see you band for life and closure of any websites and facebook accounts you mite have the, end of internet freedom.

Will Irish water be sold of to Globalist Elite to further control the Irish?

YES!

Is Enda Kenny throwing your future away or is he doing it for the better of the people? Is Enda apart of the Globalist Elite or is he been used and threaten to obey foreign lawmakers and is he just wanting on the Irish people to stand up and like the men and women that once fought for this country to take back thier freedom or will we obey and live in a mini a m e r i c a ?

We as the many have the power not government that is a few, we as the people have the power, we keep this country going not lawmakers so I think its time to show the Globalist Elite that we are more then one man and his laws that we will not fall but stand tall and fight for the future of our youth before its to late cause we are close to the end of their game and we are not invited to play a second time so please wake up.

MONEY SHOULDN'T DICTATE TO THE QUALITY OF life.

13 pag story on the Bilderberg group

CORK COUNTY COUNCIL VOTE TO REQUEST END TO WATER FLUORIDATION

Minister for Agriculture, Food & Marine Simon Coveney has also announced that an international group of consultants will be appointed to examine the situation.

The Hot Press Newsdesk, 11 Mar 2014

A big step in the battle against water fluoridation yesterday (Monday March 10) was taken, as the overwhelming majority of Cork County Council voted to stop the practice. It means the local authority, the largest to condemn fluoridation of the public water supply in Ireland to date, will now write to Health Minister James Reilly calling on him to take action.

Fluoride Free Towns members in attendance welcomed the decision. It means Cork continues to be very much at the centre of

Mad councils denying children fluoride

TENS of thousands of children across Australia are suffering tooth decay, pain and the humiliation of bad teeth because the federal and state governments are failing to ensure water supplies are fluoridated.

THE FLOURIDE SCANDAL

The Girl Against Fluoride

When Aisling FitzGibbon was alerted to the toxic nature of fluoride, she removed it from her drinking water – with remarkable results in terms of improved health. Now she is taking a case against Ireland's mandatory fluoridation.
INTERVIEW Adrienne Murphy

Aisling FitzGibbon had suffered from depression and low energy for several years. A native of Tralee in Co. Kerry, by the time she qualified as an occupational therapist aged 23, FitzGibbon's mental and physical health were on the point of collapse.

"I was going to doctors, and I was being treated with anti-depressants, but I wasn't getting better," she recalls. "In fact I was getting worse, to the point where my whole life-quality had diminished. That's why I had to seek another solution. I wouldn't have known about fluoride toxicity unless I'd been forced into finding out about it."

Ireland has the sickest population in Europe. This country is also the only one in the EU which engages in mandatory flouridation of the water. Here, we present the astonishing evidence which conclusively links these two facts. So why, asks scientist Declan Waugh, have the authorities refused to address an issue that is crucial to the health of the nation? INTERVIEW Adrienne Murphy

Ireland has the sickest population in Europe. You may not know this. I certainly didn't. But, across a comprehensive raft of essential measures, it is scientifically, verifiably, true. We are sick - to our teeth!

Baring nearly all in battle against fluoridation

Monday, 11th November, 2013 10:17am

 Jump to comments

TWO West Cork town councillors, Anne Cullinane, Clonakilty, and Karen Coakley, Skibbereen, have lent their support to The Girl Against Fluoride 2014 Naked Calendar which was launched last week.

The two councillors will feature in a naked calendar, the proceeds of which will go to cover the costs of bringing over international expert witnesses to testify in the upcoming High Court case to reverse the policy of mandatory water fluoridation.

Ireland is the only country in Europe that continues to fluoridate public water supplies and campaigners here are bringing a High Court Challenge to end this practice of adding fluorides to public water.

Clonakilty and Skibbereen town councils have voted to suspend fluoridation of public water supplies over safety concerns, but local authorities do not have this power.

Just last week, the Government announced its intention to set up a working body to review the practice of fluoridation.

The Girl Against Fluoride 2014 Naked Calendars are available to buy online at <http://www.thegirlagainstfluoride.com>

Would you brush your teeth with lead?

Then why are you using fluoride!?! ~~~~~

Fluoride is more toxic than lead, and only slightly less toxic than arsenic.

It takes only 1 gram of fluoride to kill a child – the same amount in a toothpaste tube. Using fluoridated water in baby formula can kill newborns 6 months old or younger.

94.3% of the world's population DOES NOT DRINK FLUORIDATED water.
Oppose water fluoridation • Buy fluoride-free toothpaste • Refuse fluoride rinses at your dentist

Yes we could do a fluoride topic but I dont think we should do it here the lack or commitment here is devastating, total waste of time and energy so if we do a topic on that , it will be on the forum
this is more like MacDonalds
No Jenn you did not tell me they have a " nude calender" LOL LOL howcome ?
wink ...yes it is embarrassing
fluoride I mean, not the calendar ... do we still have to protest this crap
this utter crap
why do we always have to defend ourselves against these inbred psychopathic families, yeah tough ride, but ...are you up to it ?
Is our master sergeant Jennifer ready for it ?

Energie Kegel well it is also to show the so " aware" public , comatose now, we are into more stuff than just the blue sky etc etc, why not can we lauch this baby or do you need another booster rocket ?

Jenny Mortell Yes I had that calendar but wasn't included smile emoticon

Energie Kegel Life sucks...anyway...it is a nasty topic nonetheless so the love and light crowd wont touch it , too busy getting their vegan approval stamp now and the rest of it , I have some stuff gathered maybe make a topic out of it, this stuff takes some years off the lives of the Irish, so no not worth mentioning , is it ? LOL

Jenny Mortell We do include anti-fluoride awareness on the monthly stand-offs on 'The Bridge'. There's a few people working away in the background, but most are holding their fire until we see what happens to the monstrous entity that is Irish Water, the subject of several huge protests over the last year, and the withholding of payment of IW bills.

Energie Kegel lady Heather said it , it is satanic , that is what it is if we strip it down to the core they dont want to hear that, where is my purple chakra , damn never around when you need it LOL

Energie Kegel Ireland is getting hammered so hard it is worth a topic before they all watch sports

Energie Kegel but we dont like to talk about such topics do we...nah... not really too depressing.....See more

*Energie Kegel They , the system, really hates the Irish lady J do we agree on that part of it ?
Anyway , I will start a separate topic , on the forum, not in this beauty salon here, if you want to add something , you have the floor*

Jenny Mortell I'd hardly know where to start, could almost write a book.

Energie Kegel or you can just put the finger in your nose and wait , sooner or later all problems will be eh..." solved "

*Energie Kegel I know, don do that , write a book, especially if it is without pictures most folk cannot keep a sentence going for too long nowadays.
we dont have to go too deep in it as it is blatant as hell toxic crap in water I mean , hey hello , somebody home ?...See more*

Jenny Mortell The whole story of fluoridation in Ireland going back to 1965 stinks like a rotten fish.

Energie Kegel maybe you mean like a " chemtrail fish "

Energie Kegel or government fish

Energie Kegel it all smells way up to heaven now

Energie Kegel Yo J, shit, just looked into your response , during bridge, to this donut , do you know 13000 people have seen that ????

LOL, damn

we have to watch out what we say or ...we will not be political correct

Jenny Mortell Two good books about fluoride and a third I loaned out and didnt get back - The Fluoride Deception by Chistopher Bryson. Adrienne Murphy had a great series of articles in Hotpress magazine in 2014.

Energie Kegel I just hope they say it dont exist..

Also put up a post (got a lot of comments) about what happened to me at the party last evening. My game partner from last week - "Robby" - the guy I'd talked to about Geo-engineering last week was sitting a couple ...See more

Jenny Mortell I was playing bridge with that same guy this week, I texted him after the game bemoaning that we were only 2nd (his fault) I also suggested he check out the huge number of 'persistent spreading contrails' -I got an answer but no mention of trails lol.

Energie Kegel maybe too much fluoride , that gets the job done

Energie Kegel I do know Bryson, very good one , thanks for reminding

Energie Kegel dont worry folks we will delete this interaction asap , we dont want to upset anybody LOL

Energie Kegel How do you get your water?

Energie Kegel do you get is somewhere else and put it in bottles or jerrycans?

Jenny Mortell Are you asking me? Well I saggest to anyone else who comes into my office that they buy bottled water from Lidl, but personally I fight with a couple of large jerrycans to fill them from a lovely local pump which brings water up from deep underground, and is tested avery few months by a group called 'We the People' I have a photo if I can find it.

Energie Kegel so even when you shower or bath you get soaked with it , isnt that just great, they care

Jenny Mortell Yes hard to avoid that. A lot of people here use R.O filters (reverse osmosis) one way of getting rid of the fl, but in my opinion it's wasteful as to get 3 litres it's necessary to use 5 liters of water, Energie Kegel by lack of volunteers I ask you yes

Energie Kegel you are strange J, why dont you just go along, like most others LOL, why do you have to resist, why dont you love your government, why do you keep asking questions, why you think there are lines in the sky, or poison in your water, I think you have re...See more

Energie Kegel anyway 13000 hits in nine months or so is not that bad , that s what I think it is worth something for sure...See more

Jenny Mortell I'm thankful I found out about fluoride about 6 years ago, my 'brain fog' seems to have largely disappeared, and health quite good. I often mention to women who are showing up with very arthritic fingers that they don't drink tap water for about 3 mo...See more

Energie Kegel yeah ...I know, that s the nasty part, you tell them two and two equals four and they shut off, break down, system error, as long as it s not on the six o clock news those who are under the spell wont accept it, as you, lady J, are NOT an official expert on the topic LOL

Energie Kegel It s like those " hair tests" to " prove" there is crap in the crap they spray over us every day, do we really need that , is logic not enough. Why do we have to prove everything why they do their " great work" just me rambling here, dont worry folks, if you run out of popcorn switch to donuts

Energie Kegel yes it is, it is meant to be annoying, or else we will never get out of this and THAT is the problem, most won't have it you see prefer to put their head in the sand and their asses up in the air and wonder why nothing changes jee, how come

Energie Kegel bottom line is you have to protect yourself and you are doing a good job out of that, that's the main part the rest is extra Jenny Mortell Very many people in Ireland are unhappy with the situation, but are up against a brick wall. could go on and on such a long and horrible story (about Edward ? Béarnaise the master of spin) getting the powers that be to agree to put a toxic waste substance into drinking water, just shows how stupid people are.

Jenny Mortell Spellcheck Bearnays not the other.

Energie Kegel also fluoride makes very apathic you see, I know some folk , not too many, know what s going on

Energie Kegel I know who that f@cker is , got the US into world war one

Energie Kegel the master of deception

Jenny Mortell Just because he could, the fluoride thing was a sort of challenge for him, to see could he do it, and he succeeded beautifully.

Energie Kegel they can make children think snow is black if they want to , no kidding, you know yourself what happened in Dublin with the sustainability agenda, terrible, the whole of Dublin demanding cuts , demanding depopulation, without them being aware of it

Energie Kegel scary

Jenny Mortell Maybe we should stop the discussion, we're only annoying ourselves smile emoticon

Jenny Mortell At least we're not arguing about it. Did you have a look at the FB page: Fluoridation of Irish Water is Harmless, it might make you smile wryly?

Energie Kegel I am not annoying myself..being the usual happy myself anyway, just finding some things to tie it into you see , sorry to bother , do I bother too much, who gives a fxxx about the Irish right

Jenny Mortell And 'my' page, Balbriggan Fluoride Free, you could give that a 'like' smile emoticon

Energie Kegel good choice J

Energie Kegel did not know that one, yes will give it a booster

Jenny Mortell Thanks so much.

Energie Kegel we do what we can, just some ventilating here, before they carbon tax us on that LOL

you are great J , where would Ireland be without folk like you and some others hmm, I wonder...all in the pub LOL

Jenny Mortell BTW the woman with the balloons is a good friend of mine, Aisling Fitzgibbon aka The Girl Against Fluoride' she was doing great work a year or so ago but I think got discouraged, due to lack of financial support, she wanted to raise funds to take a court case against the government.

Energie Kegel I have heard the name , they always do that , make us do those things, so we have to beg them to stop using their rigged system

Jenny Mortell And a scientist called Decan Waugh has done a huge amount of research into it, which he produces to the government and they surprisingly ignore it, but it is well recognized in other countries.

Energie Kegel or we could just grab a rope...but ...no you did not hear that

Energie Kegel discouragement I see a lot now J

Energie Kegel all real grassroot folk are pushed out now and the fake leaders take the seat

Energie Kegel I think John Lennon mentioned it, they call us sick because we point out how sick the system really is

Energie Kegel yes they ignore all of us, you see how they always steamroll over folk like Max Bliss and Terry Lawton etc etc

Energie Kegel you cannot argue with psychopaths with an agenda

Energie Kegel I hope Aisling hold on

Energie Kegel maybe we must buy those calendars ?

Jenny Mortell She and her mother don't do it any more, not enough were sold, too many people wouldn't spend 10 euros. they organized an event bringing Prof. Paul Connett the world expert on it to Dublin a year or so ago, (plus good entertainment) the tickets started at 20 euros, then reduced to 10 euros, eventually they allowed free entry. Aisling told me later that Anna Felton and I were the only two to buy tickets - bizarre.

Energie Kegel what pigs dont even spend a tenner can u believe that

Energie Kegel you gotta be kidding

anyway I will start a little gig on that one, before , you know, there is no longer a need to...

Jenny Mortell Go and annoy yourself by looking at all the BS on the page I mentioned above, Fluoridation of Irish Water etc. They have a nice photo of Balbriggan Carnegie Library tower as their profile, you'll see very quickly how it's a page run by shills.

Energie Kegel so you take water out of mother earth, without a license, I think sooner or later the CO2 police will find out ....wink you havent been properly trained I see LOL

Energie Kegel oh yes shills and trolls , but J, the money , it s always the money , they dont give a shit, just me me me

Energie Kegel it is good to have Tony Geron around J, really , without him we would be lost too you know as he ties it in so well, making us hold our ground

Jenny Mortell Yes he's really great, so innovative and enthusiastic, maybe the long break did him good, refreshed him, now he's full of good ideas. Love his latest suggestion, if it works the whole chemtrail thing will be thrown into disarray.

Energie Kegel but I will leave you now

Jenny Mortell And I'll pour a replacement cone for the flop yesterday smile emoticon

Energie Kegel dont worry at four am we are gonna storm the parliament buildings LOL ...love that one LMAO ...See more

[youtube]7i71QjIvoQY[/youtube]

Energie Kegel another master sergeant jumps in, yes will do lady Anna , on the double smile emoticon

Energie Kegel they say when an agenda continues regardless of who is in parliament you know you are under tyranny that is the official term

Energie Kegel things over there are even more crazy then here, that means something nowadays....

so all of us who dont go along are now " mad "

but as we live in an upside down world..;that would make us sane and them mad, aha... unbelievable, did not know they were doing that untill recently and on top of that those fake climate " experts" brrrrrrrrrr well enough motivation to get started I d say with the usual enthusiasm of the public LOL

not a peep

Energie Kegel seventy years of poisoning and we love you even more , every day , you just dont know what s good for ya

Energie Kegel dont worry J and A, it is not us , it s the world that is a bit , slightly out of balance, working on it

Jenny Mortell Iz there any way we can bring Plasterite into getting rid of fluoride I wonder?

Jenny Mortell Although in the Affirmation group we often say to heal our whole enviroment, air earth and water. And people probably say that in their intentions when pouring,

Energie Kegel oh man this is really blatant stuff you know that never seen it so bold

but we have to get used to it , esp since the paris convention, this cop21 crap as they flog us with who knows how many new eco shite laws , big time big time...See more

Jenny Mortell Energie Kegel Not quite 70 years, started here in 1965 so just over 50 - to be pedantic.

Energie Kegel just slightly pedantic, practice a lot ? LOL

THE GIRL AGAINST FLUORIDE

When Aisling FitzGibbon was alerted to the toxic nature of fluoride, she removed it from her drinking water – with remarkable results in terms of improved health. Now she is taking a case against Ireland's mandatory fluoridation...

Adrienne Murphy, 27 Mar 2013

Aisling FitzGibbon had suffered from depression and low energy for several years. A native of Tralee in Co. Kerry, by the time she qualified as an occupational therapist aged 23, FitzGibbon's mental and physical health were on the point of collapse.

"I was going to doctors, and I was being treated with anti-depressants, but I wasn't getting better," she recalls. "In fact I was getting worse, to the point where my whole life-quality had diminished. That's why I had to seek another solution. I wouldn't have known about fluoride toxicity unless I'd been forced into finding out about it."

In a bid to help herself, FitzGibbon enrolled for a course at the College of Natural Nutrition in Exeter, Devon. Here she heard for the first time about the health risks associated with fluoridated drinking water. She was advised to filter the fluoride and other contaminants out of the water she used for drinking and cooking back home.

"I started filtering my water, underwent a de-tox programme and often have either under-active or over-active thyroids, which may not come up in medical tests because they could be at sub-clinical levels. There are huge numbers of people in Ireland and the US, which also fluoridates, who suffer from thyroid illness.

"I've met people that didn't have any thyroid problems until they moved to Ireland and started drinking the water here," she adds. "It seems to be an epidemic in Ireland – the amount of young people who have depression or thyroid problems, or whose energy levels are impaired. I even met a young person who had to have his thyroid glands removed because they'd become so dysfunctional."

Spurred into taking a deeper look at the effects of fluoride, Fitzgibbon is convinced of its pernicious impact on people's health.

"It's not just the thyroid and mental health," she continues. "Fluoride causes health problems across the board. It's only in recent years that people are really beginning to understand the effects that fluoride is a cumulative toxin. It may not harm you over a short period, but it will, over time, build up in the body and cause various problems, depending on your genetics and the different deficiencies that you might have."

It was FitzGibbon's own experience of the dramatic health improvement that occurred on removing fluoride from her diet, bolstered by what she subsequently learned through research, which convinced the young Kerrywoman to don the mantle The Girl Against Fluoride.

"I'm determined," she asserts, "that to help people in Ireland to improve their health, I'm going to work very hard to get fluoride out of the water here."

BREACH OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Ireland has been fluoridating the water supplies since 1964. "Since then," says FitzGibbon, "fluoride has never once been tested for safety to assess its impact on human health, even though under the 1960 water fluoridation health act, the government was required to test for possible adverse health effects, should reasons to suggest ill effects arise.

That failure to test represents a blatant dereliction of responsibility on the part of the authorities. Worse than that, however, is the mendacious disregard for the truth which is manifest in the State's response when their policy is challenged.

There was a huge turnout last night for the launch of The Girl Against Fluoride's naked calendar at the White Lady Gallery in Dublin.

The calendar contains naked photos of numerous anti-fluoride campaigners, including the Girl Against Fluoride herself, Aisling Fitzgibbon, as well as the Fine Gael councillor and former Mayor of Skibbereen, Karen Coakley. The presence of a Fine Gael councillor in the calendar has already attracted attention, inspiring a piece in the Examiner today. Also in the calendar is Anne Cullinane, a town councillor from Clonakilty. The photos were taken by photojournalist, Niall Carson.

The calendar was launched officially by Niall Stokes, editor of Hot Press. Others who spoke at the launch were Aisling FitzGibbon, Sinn Féin TD Brian Stanley, Hot Press writer Adrienne Murphy and scientist Declan Waugh who is just back from making a keynote speech at an international conference on fluoride in Tehran, the capital of Iran.

Proceeds from the sale of the calendar will help to fund expert witnesses coming to Dublin to give evidence in the High Court action being taken by Aisling FitzGibbon against the Irish government to challenge the policy of mandatory fluoridation.

"The naked calendar is exactly the right kind of gesture for the anti-fluoride campaign to make," Hot Press editor Niall Stokes says. "The message is that those who are opposing have nothing to hide – whereas those who are intent on continuing the policy of mass medication of the Irish people certainly do. A huge amount of effort has gone into the campaign against fluoride and it is gathering momentum. But given the extent to which we have had to rely on the courts in the past for vital progressive measures to be enacted, the High Court case is of enormous importance – so every possible support should be given to Aisling to ensure that it is as effective as possible."

The bill being brought before Dáil by Brian Stanley was on the timetable for business today. While there is no chance that it will succeed, it should certainly give even greater focus to the debate.

FLUORIDE ACTION NETWORK SAYS IRELAND IS WORLD LEADER IN STRUGGLE "The Irish campaign is fun, playful and sexy," says FAN's Michael Connett. The Hot Press Newsdesk

Fluoride Action Network, the international coalition to end water fluoridation, has identified Ireland as the new leader in the global campaign for fluoride-free water.

In a powerful and wide-ranging interview in the new issue of Hot Press (Graham Norton cover), Michael Connett, an attorney who is Special Projects Director for FAN, singled out both the sustained reporting on the issue of fluoride in Hot Press and the work of The Girl Against Fluoride, Aisling FitzGibbon, as potential game-changers.

"The world's been waiting for a leader on this issue," Connett told Adrienne Murphy. "The ball is in Ireland's court right now. You guys have been doing amazing work. I've never seen a more exciting campaign. It's having a galvanising effect, way beyond your shores.

"Hot Press is bringing the tools of sustained journalism to the issue of fluoride – we really haven't seen that anywhere else before. One-off articles are great, but to see a persistent focus from Hot Press on fluoride, really keeping the feet to the fire – that's very exciting."

The US-based campaigner – whose father Dr. Paul Connett is a leading anti-fluoride scientist – emphasised the critical importance of the Hot Press audience.

"Fluoridation is a mistake that the previous generations made," he observed. "It's for the younger generations to correct. And Hot Press, by covering this, is equipping the younger generation with the information they need to correct the errors of the past."

Connett is dismissive of the stance of authorities, like the Department of Health and the so called 'Expert Body on Fluoride'.

"All they do is they keep on studying the teeth," says Connett. "They just keep the focus on the teeth, the teeth, the teeth. And even then they do a bad job.

"So keep holding the health authorities accountable. Keep doing Freedom of Information Act requests. Follow the money. Question, question, question authority on this issue. And have fun as well!

"That's why the Girl Against Fluoride campaign is so important – it's keeping the issue colourful, playful, fun. That's the most revolutionary thing about the Irish campaign. It's playful and sexy.

"We always say at FAN that a victory anywhere is a victory everywhere," he said. "But to see a country like Ireland with mandatory fluoridation beat it would be amazing."

Speaking to Hot Press, the Canadian safe water advocate, Liesa Cinachino, was also strong in her praise of the Irish campaign.

"We are so grateful to the campaigners in Ireland. Your scientist, Declan Waugh, is outstanding. We've been able to use a lot of his work here. And Aisling (FitzGibbon) and her mother Martha (Brassil) are amazing...

"I wish we had a magazine like Hot Press out in Canada," she added. "We've had some articles here and there, but nothing has come close to what Hot Press has done. You are an example of what journalism should be. And on behalf of the Canadian campaigners, I can't thank you enough.

"When we win this, it's because of what's happening in Ireland. So please keep up the great work!"

For the full article by Adrienne Murphy, see the current issue of Hot Press (with Graham Norton – in flying form – on the front).

Re: THE IRISH FLUORIDE TOPIC

FLUORIDE DEBATE: FEAR AND LOATHING IN ASKEATON It is one of the most shocking examples of pollution in Irish history. And it impacted in the most appalling way on the lives of local farmers, with animals dying and a litany of human health problems erupting. As a result, Nuala and Pat Geoghegan have been engaged in a running battle with the Irish state. But no one in authority seems to give a damn... Adrienne Murphy, 15 Oct 2013

10311373_farmyard460.jpg (53.84 KiB) Viewed 64 times

In the last issue of Hot Press, we brought to light evidence that there were serious flaws in an official Environmental Protection Agency report, published in 2001, into severe ill-health and high levels of mortality amongst humans and animals in the farmland around Askeaton, Co Limerick during the 1990s. The EPA investigation – which began in 1997 and took four years to complete, costing the tax payer IR£5.3 million – concluded that there was no evidence linking the extreme health problems of the area to industrial pollution. As we demonstrated in the last issue of Hot Press, scientific evidence at the time did in fact show that the land was contaminated with industrial pollution, and that animals were being poisoned by airborne fluoride. These facts were omitted from the final EPA report of 2001.

The farmland area of Askeaton, including 27 farms which co-operated in the EPA investigation, is adjacent to Europe's largest aluminium processing plant, Aughinish Alumina Ltd. Fluoride is one of the many toxic chemicals produced by this plant. It is also close to two electricity-generating stations at Moneypoint and Tarbert, which also produce high levels of pollution.

Aughinish began operations in 1983. In 1998, while the EPA investigation into the health problems of the area was taking place, the aluminium processing plant was granted an Integrated Pollution Control licence by the EPA.

This fact alone should raise serious questions about the reliability of the 2001 investigation published by the EPA. It seems extremely unlikely that the EPA would ever find against a business they had just licensed to pollute, no matter what evidence came to light.

Over the past week, Hot Press has unearthed further scientific evidence directly contradicting the EPA's conclusions, which were: first that there was no evidence for potential sources of industrial pollution in the Askeaton area; and secondly that there was no evidence suggesting that human health might be at risk in the area.

In 2011, a European Environment Agency report entitled Revealing The Costs of Air Pollution from Industrial Facilities in Europe, identified the 662 industrial plants in Europe measured as causing most harm to health and the environment through air pollution. Amongst these are seven in Ireland, including Aughinish Alumina.

Since Hot Press published the scientific evidence highlighting the inadequacies of the EPA report, public and political pressure has been mounting, both in Limerick and nationally, for a new enquiry into the Irish government's botched investigation at Askeaton.

Locals are understandably deeply concerned that the Askeaton EPA report was a massive State cover-up of industrial poisoning in the Askeaton area, resulting in ongoing severe health problems for the people and farm animals still living there. Scandalously, there is strong evidence to indicate that hundreds of people in the Askeaton area – whose health and livelihoods are still impacted by severe, toxic airborne pollution – have been hung out to dry, so that big business can go on polluting.

There are many suspicious aspects to what is a deeply disturbing story about pollution in the Askeaton area. One of the most sinister is the 'loss', apparently by the Mid-Western Health Board, of over 20 human blood, urine, hair and nasal swab samples submitted for testing over a two-year period from 1997-8 by the Geoghegan family.

I travelled to Limerick to meet Nuala and Pat Geoghegan, and to take a first hand look at the Aughinish Alumina plant. They and their daughters, Amanda and Meghan (now aged 21 and 12 respectively), lived on one of the Askeaton farms that was most severely afflicted with animal and human health problems. Over a sustained period, the family experienced severe symptoms, including extreme joint, abdominal and head pains, chronic fatigue, vomiting, and serious respiratory difficulties. Nuala Geoghegan also suffered three miscarriages. Throughout this period, animals on the farm also suffered severe ill health.

The Hot Press Newsdesk, 06 Feb 2014

Penned by Aisling FitzGibbon, the Girl Against Fluoride, the letter to Ireland's water utility company calls for an end to the addition of Hydrofluorosilicic Acid to the public water supply.

For the full context of the letter, read the new issue of Hot Press (Ellie Goulding cover). Also in Hot Press: the full info on Clonakilty's plans to become Ireland's first fluoride-free town. Plus: "West Cork Says No."

OPEN LETTER TO THE CHAIRMAN AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF IRISH WATER

Dear Ms Hynes,

We are writing this open letter to you on behalf of the growing number of people in Ireland who object to the addition of Hydrofluorosilicic Acid to the public water supply. This practice is carried out purportedly for beneficial health reasons and justified on ethical grounds. It is designed to increase the level of fluoride in all of our drinking water so that it reaches a small number of children who may otherwise be at risk of an increase in dental carries. Manufacturing our drinking water in this way directly results in an increase in the fluoride intake of all individuals reliant on public water supplies. You will all be aware that there is a growing body of public and scientific opinion that seriously questions the ethical and health grounds advanced to justify this practice and which raises grave concerns for the adverse health effects that it is causing to vulnerable groups of persons.

Those who have no choice but to consume water that has been manufactured in this way are accumulating fluoride in their bodies to such an extent that it has caused and is continuing to cause disease. The reason fluoride levels are accumulating to such an extent in the bodies of persons living in this State is because artificially fluoridated water is now not the only source of fluoride in our diets and health care routines. Products other than water that contain fluoride can be avoided but water is such a primary and staple element of our nourishment that we cannot do without either consuming it directly or preparing our food and drinks with it. By far the easier and more practical way to avoid the over accumulation of fluoride in our bodies is to ensure that our drinking water has as low a fluoride level as possible.

More and more people now take exception to being medicated / treated in such a haphazard, outdated and non-effective fashion. It is clear that this health care policy is well past its sell by date and amounts to a violation of the bodily integrity of those who have no choice but to consume it and amounts to an assault on their person as they have not given their informed and voluntary consent to it. In particular the constitutional rights of the child are being violated.

We invite you to note and consider the following summary of a relatively recent report from the European Commission (16th May 2011);

‘EU Commission - Scientific Committee on Health and Environmental Risks (SCHER), Opinion on critical review of any new evidence on the hazard profile, health effects, and human exposure to fluoride and the fluoridating agents of drinking water –

Systemic exposure to fluoride through drinking water is associated with an increased risk of dental and bone fluorosis in a dose-response manner without a detectable threshold. Limited evidence from epidemiological studies points towards other adverse health effects following systemic fluoride exposure, e.g. carcinogenicity, developmental neurotoxicity and reproductive toxicity; however the application of the general rules of the weight-of-evidence approach indicates that these observations cannot be unequivocally substantiated.

The total exposure to fluoride was estimated for infants, children, and adults from all sources of fluoride, e.g. water based beverages, food, dietary supplements, and the use of toothpaste. Contribution from other sources is limited except for occupational exposure to dust from fluoride containing minerals.

The upper tolerable intake level (UL), as established by EFSA, was exceeded only in the worst case scenario for adults and children older than 15 years of age at a daily consumption of 2.8 L of drinking water, and for children (6-15 years of age) consuming more than 1.5 L of drinking water when the level of fluoride in the water is above 3 mg/L. For younger children (1-6 years of age) the UL was exceeded when consuming more than 1 L of water at 0.8 mg fluoride/L (mandatory fluoridation level in Ireland) and assuming the worst case scenario for other sources. For infants up to 6 months old receiving infant formula, if the water fluoride level is higher than 0.8 mg/L, the intake of fluoride exceeds 0.1 mg/kg/day, and this level is 100 times higher than the level found in breast milk (less than 0.001 mg/kg/day).

The cariostatic effect of topical fluoride application, e.g. fluoridated toothpaste, is to maintain a continuous level of fluoride in the oral cavity. Scientific evidence for the protective effect of topical fluoride application is strong, while the respective data for systemic application via drinking water are less convincing. No obvious advantage appears in favour of water fluoridation as compared with topical application of fluoride...' (emphasis added)

Clearly the independent scientists selected by the European Commission have concluded that when fluoride from all available sources is taken into account the upper limit of fluoride intake is exceeded by children aged between 1 and six years of age who consume more than 1 litre per day of our artificially fluoridated water. The situation is even more grave in regard to bottle fed infants who are being poisoned when this water is used to make up their formula feeds.

Serious personal injury has been caused to many thousands, perhaps even hundreds of thousands of residents here as a direct consequence of the water fluoridation policy, not the least of which is Dental Fluorosis. As a consequence many victims are presently obtaining legal advice and will shortly be commencing personal injuries actions in the courts seeking damages and costs.

It is expected that in the coming months the growing and very considerable resistance to the continuation of the artificial fluoridation of public water supplies will manifest itself in multiple High Court and Circuit Court actions.

Future customers of Irish Water will not be prepared to enter into a contract with Irish Water for the supply of artificially fluoridated water and a nationwide campaign to withhold water charge payments until such time as the water supplied is not artificially fluoridated will commence.

Particular groups of people in the country, such as those with diabetes, kidney disease, thyroid dysfunction, children between 1 and 6 years of age, bottle fed babies and the elderly are more vulnerable than others to the toxic effects resulting from the ingestion of fluoride no matter what its source.

To date the State has failed in its duty of care to warn of the dangers of the over consumption of fluoridated products such as the modified water delivered via the public water supply. These dangers were well known by numerous Government departments as they have been fully documented for many years. The State has taken it upon itself to cause and permit dental fluorosis and other adverse health effects without the informed consent of its people and without any warning whatsoever as to the risks / dangers involved in consuming the modified water. In the face of all of the peer reviewed scientific and medical literature that is known to State officials, the State continues to refuse to acknowledge that there is a legal obligation upon it to warn consumers of the dangers involved in the over consumption of this water and that safe levels of consumption will depend on individual age, health, dietary and life style criteria. It is not a case of 'one size fits all' and there is an urgent need to take all appropriate steps to warn the public of the dangers of excessive fluoride consumption.

It is now generally considered dangerous to a baby's health if their parents make up formula bottle feeds with artificially fluoridated water containing between .6 and .8 ppm. It is also clearly dangerous for young children participating in sporting activities to consume this water above a certain level. To date the State has chosen to bury its head in the sand. However the day of reckoning is imminent and it will soon have to justify having failed to take action to its hard pressed taxpayers when it has to spend millions of their euros undoing, in so far as such is possible, the damage caused. The absence of any health warning is clearly negligent and directly results in fluoride overdose with sometimes irreversible and catastrophic consequences.

We are now convinced by the peer reviewed research carried out by highly respected members of the scientific and medical community (such as those who were selected by the EU to compile the report quoted from above) that a significant number of residents who drink even average amounts per day of this artificially fluoridated water will be overdosed with fluoride resulting in adverse health effects. As you will be aware it is impossible to limit the amount of artificially fluoridated water that will be ingested, especially in the absence of a nationwide information campaign warning of the dangers. In the circumstances it is our view and the view of our legal advisors that Irish Water would be carrying out a reckless and negligent act by continuing to operate the public water supply system in a way that involves artificially fluoridating it knowing that it will result in fluoride overdose with consequent personal injury, loss and damage. You and your fellow board members have personal responsibility not to cause injury in this way irrespective of whether or not there is a law mandating the practice. The Nazi party retained scientists to carry out experiments on humans involving dosing with fluoride. It was and is no defence that they were simply carrying out orders from a lawful authority. The existence of the law may not provide you with a defence to either criminal or civil prosecution where you recklessly cause personal injury to another. Consequently the immunity that government ministers might enjoy does not necessarily apply to each of you. You will, as the persons responsible for the operation by your servants or agents of the fluoridation systems, be open to prosecution.

In addition it ought to be noted by you all that in order to continue with the artificial fluoridation of water it will be necessary for Irish Water as the new operators of the system (or its agents ad interim, the local water authorities) to contract for the delivery and storage of Hydrofluorosilicic Acid. This acid is extremely toxic and highly dangerous. In the event that there was an accidental spillage large numbers of persons would be at risk of death or serious injury. The safe transportation and storage of the acid cannot always be guaranteed. We are of the view that it should only be transported in tankers of the highest safety standard and under a security escort so as to ensure safe delivery. This is not happening at present. We are also of the view that the present storage and dosing facilities are seriously outdated and that neither safety nor dosing within presently permitted limits can be guaranteed. This view is supported by the fact of the recent chemical contamination of the Dublin water supply and the Water Authorities annual reports which consistently show the finding of levels of fluoride at levels higher than that which is legally permitted (in reckless disregard for the health of consumers).

The Irish taxpayer and those who will shortly be paying water charges will have to bear the costs, conservatively estimated at some E14 Million per annum, incurred in the purchase, the safe and secure transportation, the storage and the dilution into doses of this highly toxic chemical which when diluted creates fluoride. Given the fact that the Irish people are suffering enormous financial pressures it is manifestly unfair and unjust to expect them to carry such a burden when the purported efficacy of the fluoridation policy is under such serious question.

Further you will no doubt be aware that Fluorosilicic Acid is not a permitted ingredient in food and medicinal products under EU and Irish law and that the sale/and or supply of product (in this case artificially fluoridated water) that has been made with even a diluted form of Fluorosilicic Acid (ie hydrofluorosilicic acid) potentially exposes the Irish Water to litigation from many sources.

Also, most if not all food and drink producers in Ireland use the public water supply in the manufacture of their products. It is clear that artificially fluoridated water that has been produced by adding an unlicensed food / medicinal ingredient is wholly unfit for purpose and could result in the withdrawal of large amounts of product from the market place across the EU, causing considerable loss to the entities involved.

We strongly believe and have been so advised that there is both a legal and moral duty on the board of directors of Irish Water to immediately inform its customers that this product (ie artificially fluoridated water) is manufactured using an ingredient that is not permitted under EU regulations and directives and that their artificially fluoridated water ought not to be used in the preparation of foodstuffs including drinks or medicines. Whether the ingredient itself ie Hydrofluorosilicic Acid is altered into its constituent parts in the process of manufacture is as you know irrelevant.

We firmly believe that the addition of Hydrofluorosilicic Acid to the public water supply is now unlawful irrespective of whether or not it has any purported beneficial health effect for a small element of the population. We publicly call upon and strongly urge you to immediately undertake not to produce artificially fluoridated water in this way so that our public water supply policy may be brought into line with the standards that our fellow Europeans enjoy and who have ready access to non artificially fluoridated water.

The water fluoridation policy is causing grave and serious damage to many, including children and infants. We want to reiterate that this letter is intended to put you all on unequivocal notice of the harm being done by this outdated and discredited policy. Further, we believe that a failure to cease or at the very least suspend implementation of the policy will give rise to a cause of action in negligence and trespass to the person by all those whom you do not immediately inform of the health risks in consuming the artificially fluoridated water.

We now demand that you immediately inform the parents of all bottle-fed infants and all members of other vulnerable groups, of the dangers to their health posed by consuming fluoridated water from the public water supply as you now know that the average consumption per person of fluoride from all sources is estimated to be at such a level as to cause adverse health effects in particular categories of persons and that fluoridated water is by far the largest source of such intake.

As all of the matters raised above are of an extremely urgent nature and of considerable national and public importance we look forward to receiving your comprehensive reply at your earliest convenience.

Yours sincerely,

Alan speaks of the harmful effects of sodium fluoride, a substance that is added to our drinking water under the guise of bettering our health by preventing tooth decay, a spurious claim that has never been proven. Evidently, the real purpose is to make the people more placid and therefore easier to manage. It also lowers the IQ, and has been shown to increase your chance of getting cancer. Demand that this toxin which is commonly used in rat poison is removed from your area at once! We are all being hurt by this

[youtube]eBZRb-73tLc[/youtube]

Now a new book, titled "The Fluoride Deception" by Christopher Bryson examines the background of the fluoridation debate. According to Bryson, research challenging fluoride's safety was either suppressed or not conducted in the first place. He says fluoridation is a triumph not of medical science but of US government spin.

Just some snippets grabbed so folk know we are active enough..and dont brush our nails all day and so forth ..

Tony you are magnificent, yesterday we talked about you in our little fluoride thing, ah you are the man also a very blessed person in many ways given so much opportunities in life, to meet the right people, do the right thing, etc, learning a lot and also mentioning your sharing abilities, that differ you from most, appreciated. Thanks for your big postings on the real people we have been granted to learn from

smile emoticon

have to reorganize it a bit LOL, the pictures on the forum

thanks

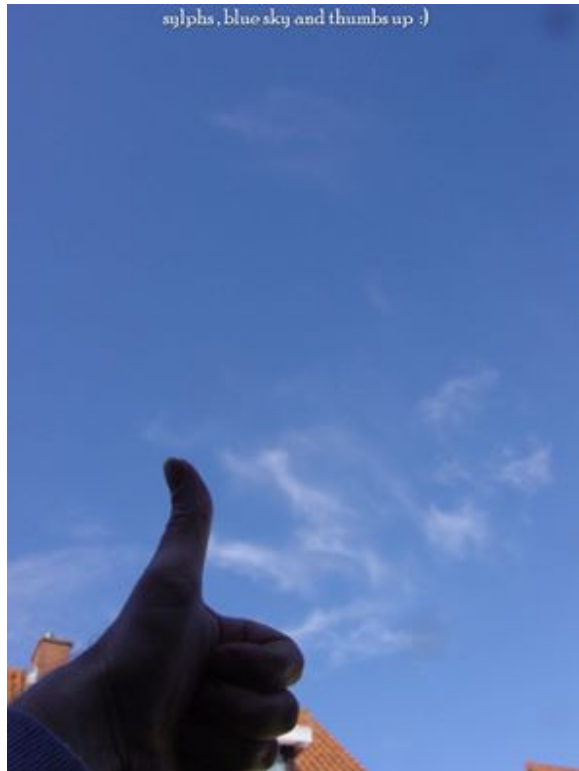

the layout etc but yes

I am not so talented with words as you are describing these energy effects , the good work, the healing, etc

double plus good double thumbs up

Tony Geron *bows humbly* Many, many thanks Brother EK.... smile emoticon What I know and realize, now, more than ever, is THIS, is OUR time..... meaning, if not today, then when..... I can't wait or hope that anyone or any group will awaken to such a degree as to be nimble enough on the mental plane, to get any of this..... No, it's "time" to step up and out, regardless of what happens on the personal level, otherwise, I'm wasting those dwindling special moments that I've cached away for this rainy day! LOL smile emoticon You especially will love this one..... smile emoticon On Saturday, I took the family to a local small town some twenty miles out from us to do some shopping, had such a freakin' blast, found all sorts of molds and cheap! But the last place we went was the local Walmart, and outside they had the little kiddie pools all tossed around, with big SALE signs plastered (lol) all over them. So I turned to my girl and said, "Bet me I won't buy a small kiddie pool and make the largest plasterite piece, bet me! She turned to me and said with a smirk, YOU ARE ON!" So I nearly peed myself in giddiness, just thinking about how I would flip that big puppy over, or how many extra hands I might need to do so!!!! And of course, how many bags will I need to fill that thing!! smile emoticon

Energie Kegel pffffff bit emotional here tsssssssss well Sean brought up a good point , something must be done wont be easy...See more

Tony Geron I've got a meddling Spirit that works with me on those, and it's HE that demands that "has to be perfect" shite! LMAO!!!! I'm a messy, messy boy, get crap everywhere when I Create, pretty darn funny.... I can't wait to tackle that BIG project now, I'm going to have plaster all over my entire yard, and it's a pretty big yard, almost a full acre. smile emoticon My girl was poo pooing me saying, where are you going to put that thing?!?! You are going to kill the grass under it! Me... yeah, so? Maybe the energy from the huge piece will keep the grass alive under it??? LOL smile emoticon Hmmmmm, OK..... *eyeing the big tree stump in the front of the house*

Tony Geron And Sean is right..... agreed! Just have to figure out how to get some actors, models, athletes and other "popular" sorts, to learn about this, to understand what we are about, and to champion our cause! Should be a piece of cake! LOL smile emoticon Was thinking about gifting some of these folks with some plasterite and a note, looking into ways to do such....

smile emoticon

Energie Kegel Arranged things at his forum , it s still his, we just play around a bit there LOL

a piece of cake eh LOL , teaser...See more

Jenny Mortell

Jenny Mortell Great dialogue there. Have to say I love Tony's suggestion about 'encouraging' and even cajoling with praise our plasterite to transmute not only the toxic emissions from planes but the planes themselves and all other planes. If we do that we will have the whole problem sorted in no time. Looking forward to seeing the results in a day or two.

Energie Kegel yes, but as Sean Maguire also mentioned , maybe it s time to aim a bit higher than " just" that, by working towards a more cohesive "front" so to speak, as many folk are sort of waking up, if we have to use that word, although I must admit, most are not truly waking up , they are just re-acting to what the control grid let loose on us, but that s another topic.

Stuff to ponder about is maybe we can make something central to gather momentum instead of "rogue groups" won't be easy, of course, nothing is really easy once you try to wiggle your way out of the system but...we can try

Tony Geron There are a number of groups, some even here on FB, that are activists or informational, about geoengineering. I just did a search in Google looking for celebrity geoengineering activists, and it made me think about just what is it, that we can do, to unite all of these divergent groups. Here is the link to that search..... <https://www.google.com/webhp?sourceid=chrome-instant..>

Google

Search the world's information, including webpages, images, videos and more. Google has many special...

GOOGLE.COM

Tony Geron So perhaps, we start with this.... let's identify as many of the players, groups and entities out there that are of similar minds. Let's come up with a "message" to send them, that will introduce us and what we are about, and show how we have similar concerns, and this is how WE are addressing the problem. Let's setup a network of gifters, that can and will freely send any of the above, one of our Creations, so that they can see, feel, and acknowledge, for themselves, that Plasterite actually works! Hiding in the shadows won't work, not going forward, we have to be just as brazen as the sprayers. Let's get an Oprah or Jimmy Kimmel talking about this, displaying their Plasterite, getting enthusiastic about doing something, doing their part, to free our skies..... This won't happen by itself, it's going to take even greater effort on our part to move this to the next level. We have to get everyone to understand, that this is something you can't run to some politician and demand that laws be changed or created to stop this, that's not going to work. This is highest level black budget / ops being carried out worldwide from nearly every continent. Who has the finances and infrastructure to do such? How do you "vote" to make that stop? There are no formal budgets set aside to pay for this, it comes from the depths of Hell itself.

Jenny Mortell Excellent thinking there. Sending a piece to influential people could be quite effective. How does one get onto Oprah or Jimmy K, there's plenty of discussion on alternative media, I don't think mainstream is as welcoming Tony Geron We need to show them Jenny, we need to get them thrilled that something so basic and natural, can and will, free our skies. They need to be as outraged as we are, They need to be as outraged as we are, they need to understand the duplicity and threat to our world that this program has unleashed upon us, and be willing to speak up too. We all, are dying, only at different rates.... and that is truly abhorrent to me, that the weak, defenseless and un-awakened masses are taking it on the chin and not even knowing who or what is doing so to them..... We can NOT hold or allow FEAR to block or impede our Spirit and dedication. Our Love, is our greatest strength. This has nothing to do with religion or ideology, all are targets and victims as well. So perhaps we have some things to ponder now, and perhaps we craft and simplify our message, so that anyone will "get it", and be curious enough to react or respond....

Energie Kegel good post

Re: THE IRISH TOPIC

Sean Maguire There are people in all of 28 countries who are AWARE...didn't say it was a majority; but when has a majority of sheep ever changed things?

I have been involved with the Fluoride Campaign for over 15 years and have seen so much. Many solutions, without support, will not happen. WITH SUPPORT...we could end it.

Here in Ireland...NO OTHER CAMPAIGN is relevant UNTIL we have the fluoride removed. Only THEN will people give a shite about anything else .....A drugged nation ain't going to accept the FACTS of pretty much anything, until the drugging stops. We have plans of course... THAT isn't as known by as many that are aware of the fluoride issue itself. Sadly so many people fighting their own campaigns without success (well it is a drugged populace!) when we should ALL be getting together and organising the demise of this CRIME against the Irish people...and a few globally where they can get away with it!

Jenny Mortell So true Sean.
